Great Sources of Information

For those of you with a thirst for knowledge about Dynamics, we want to make you aware of some of our favourite sites to get info from. Whether you want to learn how to make your Dynamics processes easier, get the latest on product information or learn more about new integrated software products, these sites can help.

The ERP Software blog not only discusses various Dynamics platforms but also Dynamics related topics such as IFRS, reporting tools, and cloud computing.

MS Dynamics World is a great site for news, updates, tips and integrated solution ideas.

The Dynamics Community is a blog, forum, and networking site that is run by Microsoft Dynamics. A handy feature of this site is the ability to ask a question to the community.

Reminder: Your FRx Needs TLC

Like any other critical files or reports, your FRx Financial Statements need diligence to keep them running at peak performance. Since FRx functions separately from your Dynamics GP environment and files it is necessary to ensure

Tips and Tricks

Locking Budgets

You can put a password on your budget when opening it from Dynamics GP. The password needs to be entered before exporting to or importing from Excel and also when opening and editing the budget within GP.

Navigate to Cards >> Financial >> Budgets

Open the budget in Dynamics GP (vs Excel). Next to the budget ID there is an icon that looks like a padlock. If you click on the padlock you will be able to set a password for this budget.
